C. C. Beelman Named Chairman to Replace Neff Who Plans to Quit as Teacher.

Resignations of LeRoy B. Hamilton as area rent director and James Bailey as chief clerk of the Richland county War Price and Rationing board were announced today.

Nelson Neff, teacher at Johnny Appleseed Junior high school and chairman of the rationing board, has been appointed by the Office of Price Administration to succeed Bailey and will assume his duties tomorrow. Neff, it is understood, will submit his resignation to the board of education at once.

Hamilton turned over his office to Morton F. Hayman, regional rent field representative, who will act until a new area director is named.

The resignations of Hamilton and Bailey, announced within an hour of each other this morning, follow similar action by Mrs. Hamilton who held a clerical post with the rationing board since its inception last January. All three were former business associates in a local loan company.

George Sexton, field organization officer for the Columbus OPA offices, was in Mansfield today to accept Bailey's retirement, announce Neff's appointment and to approve the recommendation of the Mansfield Council of Civilian Defense that Charles C. Beelman, retired, 674 Brae Burn, as board chairman.

Bailey exhibited a letter copy dated Nov. 16, addressed to Inwood Smith, state OPA organizer, setting up as his reason for resigning as "the load is getting too heavy for me to carry at m yage and consequently I feel that my health comes first."

Bailey assumed charge of the ration board when it was organ-

DECISION DUE

FDR Says Manpower Set-up To Be Revealed Soon.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt today announced that the nation will soon receive a final decision on the manpower and womanpower setup but stated that he has not decided whether it shall call for voluntary or compulsory registration of women.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that he did not think that legislation would be required in the beginning to put the manpower program into action.

The president said that he is still studying the question of registering women for the war effort, but he has not finally decided whether it shall be voluntary or compulsory.

Henderson Says Living Costs Rise Only Slightly.

BOSTON —(AP)— Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, asserts that the cost of living has increased only a little more than 1½ per cent since May under the restraining influence of OPA price management.

He told a citizens' anti-inflation rally last night that the price of sugar during World War I was 27 cents a pound but that "today you're paying seven cents a pound."

REVIVES HOPE FLIER'S ALIVE

Wife Gets Cable Dated Nov. 17 From Pilot Reported Killed In England Nov. 9.

The hope that Captain-Pilot Raymond R. Foltz, of Mansfield, reported killed in action, may still be alive and perhaps due to return to the United States was aroused yesterday in the hearts of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray N. Foltz, 33 Gibson avenue, upon the receipt of a cable and telegram, the former signed by the captain-pilot and the latter by his wife, who lives in New York city.

Although the Foltz family was informed last Saturday by the Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters in Ottawa, Canada, that their son, an RCAF pilot with the rating of sergeant had been killed Nov. 9, the message that came yesterday from Mrs. Florence Foltz, his wife, said she had received a cable from her husband dated Nov. 17, eight days later.

The text of her telegram follows:

"Wonderful news today. Received cable from Raymond dated Nov. 17, reading: 'Hold Christmas gifts. Being transferred. Look for grand surprise.' Our prayers have been answered. Will write the minute have any details. Personally

7,773 RECEIVE COUPONS, 4,000 APPLY TODAY

Those In T Through Z Class Reporting at Schools Till Nine Tonight.

THURSDAY BIG DAY

Rules Set Up For B and C Book Registrations Which Begin Monday.

Two thirds of Mansfield motorists obtained their basic mileage gasoline ration A books in the first two days of the three-day registration period and 4,000 others are due to get their books before the deadline at 9 tonight.

A total of 7,773 books were issued Wednesday and Thursday against an estimated 12,000 automobile registrations for Mansfield, leaving some 4,000 motorists still without books at the start of registrations today, rationing headquarters announced.

Thursday's registration totaled 4,663 for A books and 17 for D books, or considerably greater than the first registrations on Wednesday when 3,100 obtained coupons for "short rations" of gasoline.

Today's registration is for motorists whose last names begin with letters T through Z, inclusive, and will be carried out from 2 to 9 p. m. at the 10 elementary schools.

Ration book applications were also progressing well in the county where registration is also taking place in district schools.

Yesterday's registration, embracing the largest name group—the H to S section—brought scattered reports of crowded conditions at the registration sites but no long lines were necessary as the teachers serving as registrars became more proficient in examining applications.

Meanwhile Chairman W. J. Spreng of the gasoline panel in the Richland county rationing board announced a slight change in the set-up for registration and 2 Plane Crashes Take Heavy Toll of Lives in Florida.

PENSACOLA, Fla. — (U.P.) — A board of officers today began investigation into the cause of the worst airplane accident in the history of the Pensacola naval air station, in which nine men were killed. One still was missing.

It was believed that two planes collided while taking off the water.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. —(AP)—The entire crew of six men aboard a light army bomber was killed at Morrison Field here today when the plane crashed and burned in an attempted takeoff, the army announced.

It was the first fatal accident at the field. Officers said the ship was departing on a routine training flight when the crash occurred.

Cruiser Boise Comes Home

A Bucyrus physician, Lieut. Commander Edward C. Kenney was an officer of the U. S. Boise, 10,000-ton cruiser, which arrived at Philadelphia yesterday from the Solomon Islands where it sank six Jap ships in a battle Oct. 11. The Bucyrus man and 18 other crew members and officers were honored for heroism. In the top photo, Admiral Ernest J. King, (dark cap) commander-in-chief of the U. Bucyrus Physician Hero of Battle Costing Japs 6 Ships

Lieut. Commander Edward C. Kenney, 38-year-old Bucyrus physician, was decorated for heroism today with 18 other members of the crew of the U. S. S. Boise which accounted for six Japanese warships in a 27-minute battle during the night of Oct. 11 off the Solomon islands.

Although under heavy fire from enemy ships and planes, Lieut. Commander Kenney removed the wounded from shell-struck areas and "no wounded man under his charge died as a result of wounds received," the citation said.

Lieut. Commander Kenney, son of Mrs. James Kenney of Bucyrus, has been in the navy medical corps for nearly 10 years, enlisting soon after he completed his interneship. His wife and two children reside in Long Beach, Calif. They visited in Bucyrus last summer.

Literally a "one-ship fleet," the U. S. S. Boise, a light cruiser, had been given up as lost after the battle, but yesterday steamed into Philadelphia.

'Army' of Hunters Takes Off For Rabbit, Pheasant Chase

A Richland county army of hunters which included many women and boys went into the sodden woods and fields at noon today to fire the opening volley of the 1942 hunting season.

Rabbits and pheasants were the targets of most of the nimrods who bought hunting licenses in numbers almost equal to last year despite the shortage of ammunition and tire rationing. It was estimated that at least 4,000 Richland countians went in quest of game today.

Scores of hunters who like to shoot pheasants drove to the prairies of northwest Ohio this morning to be ready to invade the fields at noon. The colorful birds are reported plentiful in the area north and west of Upper Sandusky.

Up in Jackson township, Joe Mott, 78-year-old farmer, didn't make his usual offer to hunters this year. For 20 years he invited hunters to his place, let the bars down for them, and even gave them chickens sometimes when they didn't get enough game. Mrs. Mott frequently prepared dinner for the visitors when they came in from the fields.

Ill at his home for several months, Mott nevertheless wished his hunter friends "a lot of good luck today" and then added that "we have something more to hunt now than rabbits."

Opening day bag limit for rabbits was four with eight permitted in possession after the first day. Hunters are limited to two cock pheasants today and four in possession after the opening day.

The pheasant season closes Dec. 5 and the rabbit season Jan. 5.

U. S. Leaders Plan to Double Warplane Production.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A vastly stepped-up Allied air offensive was in the making today as the nation disclosed plans to double its warplane production within a year.

Charles E. Wilson, former General Electric company president and recently named vice chairman of the war production board, was made administrator of the gigantic program which is expected to make plane output a $30,000,000,000 a year industry.

President Roosevelt's "blueprint for victory" goals called for 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943 but this program was revised downward to permit greater production of harder-hitting types found more valuable on the war fronts.

QUIZ 3,000 IN ASYLUM'S MASS MURDER

Oregon State Police Try To Find Lunatic Who Put Poison in Eggs.

DEATH TOLL AT 47

Killer, If Found In Hospital, Could Not Be Arrested, Charged or Tried.

(By United Press)

SALEM, Ore.—Mass murder in a mad house engaged state policemen today as they questioned the 3,000 inmates of the state hospital for the insane in search of a lunatic believed to have poured poison into scrambled-egg batter, killing 47 of his fellows.

Gov. Charles A. Sprague unhesitatingly ruled out any possibility that the poison had gotten into the batter by accident or through carelessness and characterized the epidemic of deaths which convulsed the institution Wednesday night as "mass murder."

If Sprague's theory proves true and the mad murderer is found, the state would find it impossible to arrest, charge, or try him. All inmates have been judicially adjudged legally insane and hence are not responsible for their acts.

The poison which made 460 inmates deathly ill, killed 47 and may yet kill as many as 12 more, was identified by pathologists as sodium fluoride following an examination of the viscera of several of the victims and of the scrambled eggs.

Detectives discovered that a quantity of roach poison made up largely of sodium fluoride was kept in the hospital's fruit cellar, which is accessible from the kitchen in which the eggs were prepared. It is always locked and detectives ascertained that it was locked Wednesday evening. In another storeroom nearby is baking powder, milk powder, and other cooking ingredients and it too is always locked.

A. B. McKillop, a member of the hospital staff, is chief cook, and Mary O'Hare, another staff member, is his assistant. They have a number of inmates as helpers, all of whom are considered rational and harmless. Only Mc-

Saturday Classes To Be Held for Bellville Pupils

School will be over 10 days earlier this year for the 550 pupils of the Bellville grade and high school so the boys and girls can help with the spring work on the farm. The pupils, however, will attend Saturday classes for 10 weeks starting Dec. 5, in order to be able to do it.

Other county schools may follow suit, Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, said today, although Bellville is the only one so far to take definite action to shorten the school year by holding classes six days a week. Under the new set-up, Bellville pupils will be dismissed May 1, after 180 days of school, the term required by the state.

D. D. Rummel, Bellville principal, said that the school board had approved the new schedule after a survey had been made of the 300 families represented in the school district. More than 90 per cent favored the change in schedule, Rummel said.

Dates for the Saturday schedule, announced by Rummel, are as follows: Dec. 5, 12; Jan. 9, 16, 30; Feb. 13, 27; March 6, 20 and 27.

U. S. SHIP SUNK

Navy Reveals Torpedoing of Craft In November.

Survivors have landed at an east coast United States port.

U. S. Naval Victory Becomes Biggest In Modern Era, Tally Shows.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The United States Navy dealt the Japanese fleet the most disastrous defeat in modern naval warfare, it became apparent today, with disclosure that enemy losses in last week's three-day sea battle probably reached the staggering proportions of 28 ships destroyed and 10 more damaged.

This setback, believed to have cost the Nipponese two battleships, six heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, six destroyers and 12 transports and cargo ships, became even more crushing with news that Allied bombers sank another cruiser and a destroyer off New Guinea last night.

The American sea victory in the Solomons grew in magnitude last night when the navy's delayed report on Saturday night's battle off Guadalcanal island told of the sinking of a Japanese battleship or heavy cruiser, three large cruisers and a destroyer.

United States battleships, mentioned for the first time in a navy communique on the southwestern Pacific war, thundered into the fight, exchanging long-range wallops that forced the foe to turn and flee northward.

While citing the sinking of the five warships and the damaging of another battleship, cruiser and a destroyer, the navy cautioned that "this report of damage may include some of the damage already reported."

A naval spokesman expressed belief, however, that if there was any duplication, it probably was not extensive.

The first report of the savage encounter with the Rising Sun's warfleet from Nov. 13 to 15 told Monday of the destruction of 23 Japanese vessels including a battleship and three heavy cruisers. Seven others, including a battleship, were declared damaged. The communique also explained that details of the Saturday night battle "have not yet been received."

The latest Japanese naval losses off New Guinea's northeastern coast, west of the Solomons, were described in a communique today

3 Panzer Columns Take Drubbing at Hands of Allies Near Bizerte.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Heavy fighting has developed in Tunisia with the first round going to British and American combat teams driving toward Bizerte and Tunis from several directions, and a spokesman at the Allied headquarters in North Africa said today that a third of one Nazi panzer column had been destroyed and two other columns hurled back.

In Libya the Germans gave up Bengasi, Marshal Rommel's last escape port short of Tripoli.

Allied mechanized forces which drove through the coastal spur of the Atlas mountains gave the Germans their first major drubbing of the Tunisian campaign 30 to 40 miles from the big Bizerte naval base after pushing at least half way to Bizerte from the Algerian border.

Allied losses were described as slight although the Nazis used their best medium tanks in the fight and supported them with dive bombers.

"It appears that the Germans are digging in about 30 miles southwest of Bizerte and in the Tunis area and are preparing to make their stand there," a spokesman at the Allied headquarters said, adding:

"German losses in yesterday's clashes were quite heavy, but they are pouring in reserves and it looks like we are in for considerable fighting."

As the Allied pincers closed on the last 850 miles of North African coast in Axis hands, Italy began to see her fate. A Rome broadcast said North Africa was the springboard from which the Americans would pounce upon Europe, and declared: "Italy's hour has struck."

The Allied drive into Tunisia was said to have carried advance units half way from the Algerian border to Bizerte, and the first clashes of the developing fight cost Germany 17 armored vehicles, 11 of them tanks.

PURSUIT: Red Army Chasing Nazis After Caucasus Victory

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—Red army units pressed hard after fleeing Germans in the deep Caucasus today, following up a major victory the they eased Nazi pressure on the great Grozny oil fields near the Caspian sea and on the military road leading south into the rich Trans-Caucasus.

Latest front line reports bore out the earlier impression that a major Fascist force—possibly four divisions of 45,000 men—was routed in a battle of several days on the approaches to Ordzhonikidze.

A special communique brought first news of the triumph last night, reporting 5,000 of the enemy killed, several times that many wounded and vast military booty captured.

Today's added details confirmed or revised upward all these figures and spread joy among the Russian people whose hope and confidence have been rising as temperatures have fallen under the impact of early winter.

Today's midday communique brought more good news from far to the north where the German casualties were set at 5,000 over a three-day period of futile attacks in an attempt to re-take a recently captured town on the Volkov sector on the Leningrad front.

In continuation of a reconnaissance operation in that sector, the

IN LONDON: Captive German General Rushed From Africa

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Official announcement was made today that General Riter von Thoma, one-time commander of the German Afrika Korps who was captured in the Egyptian desert, has been brought to England.

Considerable importance was attached to his presence here. An indication of this was seen in the fact he was rushed to London aboard a special train immediately after his arrival in England.

Announcement of Von Thoma's arrival in London immediately aroused speculation as to whether Great Britain plans to use him as the United States is using Admiral Jean Francois Darlan—for information and as a possible rallying point for German dissidents.

If Von Thoma is ready to violate one of the cardinal rules of war and disclose vital information to the British, his presence in England may prove to be of extremely great importance.

This was the first time since the war began that the British had made formal announcement of an important prisoner's disposition following his capture.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — When a lady turns down a chance to star opposite Cary Grant in one picture in order to play in another, the second is worth a look.

We look, and it turns out to be a tale of Czechoslovakia, specifically of Heydrich the Hangman, his assassination, and the consequences to one loyal Czech family.

Coons

It came into being because Fritz Lang, who reads newspapers avidly, no sooner read of Heydrich's death than he saw a movie subject. He dashed off a story outline, and about five months later—he and John Wexley had a screen play ready to go.

Fritz Lang, looking for a producer, said: "Arnold Pressburger." He said it because "Papa" Pressburger is from Prague, via Paris, and feels very strongly about Nazi occupation of his former country. They got together on the picture, and Anna Lee, who turned down Cary Grant, is leading lady opposite Brian Donlevy.

* * * *

Years ago, back in Germany, Fritz Lang made a horror picture called "M" which was sensational. When he left, just in time, he left more than one kind of horror behind. His American films have been either modern with social themes ("Fury") or period western. He has preferred American subjects and backgrounds until now—to such an extent that he is a fan of the American west, rolls his own cigarets, and has discarded his monocle in favor of plain, rimless glasses. This European theme—"this one is different and important," he says.

"I want to present the Nazis as they are," he says. "Realistically. Too often they have been made comic characters, which is bad for then they are too easily dismissed. Often they have been shown as gigantic monsters, which is also bad because then they become caricatures, not to be taken seriously. I want to show them as human beings -- with a peculiar mental twist that makes them act as they do."

When you suggest that any movie concerning Heydrich has the makings of a horror film, Lang counters with the idea that it also has the makings of strong drama —which aspect he will emphasize.

"This is an eternal theme, the struggle of an invaded people anywhere against the invader, and the struggle they have between love of country and love of their families," he says. "There are any number of stories to be built around Heydrich, but we are sticking to our one story line—the girl who knows who killed Heydrich and whose father (Walter Brennan) is one of the hostages held for execution if the assassin is not found."

Well, that explains a lot about why Anna Lee isn't playing opposite Cary Grant. That's a role (to coin a phrase the players are always coining) a gal can get her teeth into.

STRIKERS HALT WAR OUTPUT AT OHIO FACTORY

1,000 Walk Out at Word They Won't Get Third Pay Raise Since October, 1940.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Production of parts for army equipment and lend-lease materials at the National Malleable and Steel Castings company was at a standstill today as a result of work stoppge attributed to a war labor board referee's disapproval of wage increases.

More than 1,000 employes, members of the AFL United Automobile Workers' Union, ceased work late yesterday as word spread trough the plant that W. W. Dawson, WLB referee, had recommended against pay raises sought under a cost-of-living contract clause.

Rufus Seals, local union president, said the men ignored pleas for resumption of operations, and the company informed the WLB that unless it took "immediate action" a "serious strike appears certain."

George J. Leroux, assistant plant manager, said the plant was shut down completely. He expressed the opinion that the work steppage was against the WLB instead of the company.

Dawson's report said the workers had received increases of 24½ cents an hour since Oct. 28, 1940, and were not entitled to a further raise. Additional individual and group increases brought the total raises to 21.7 per cent, compared with the 15 per cent basis in the "Little Steel" formula, it added.

CIO Says Hundreds Leave Canton Plant

CANTON — (AP) — CIO leaders claimed today that employes were leaving the Timken Roller Bearing company plants here "by the hundreds every week" because the war labor board has failed to act on the workers' request for a 5½-cent hourly pay raise.

President I. W. Abel of the Stark County Industrial Union Council, central CIO body, asserted Timken employes were "disgusted" with the WLB's delay in reaching a decision.

He said he had received reports that 3,000 workers had left the plants in the past several months.

NO DISEASE

Typhoid Victims Recovered, Commissioner Reports.

With the exception of 14 virtually recovered cases of typhoid fever, Mansfield and Richland county today were declared free of communicable, infectious or contagious diseases of record by Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner.

Ten persons who were among 24 to contract typhoid fever a month ago in the Ontario area have been pronounced well by attending physicians. Negative reports from the state health department laboratories are anticipated for cultures submitted from the other patients.

Several diphtheria cases, all adults, which developed recently in Mansfield, have cleared up, Dr. Wild reported.

Water wells in the Ontario region which showed pollution under state tests have been corrected, the health officials say. Milk tests show that cows owned in that district generally are free of any fever-causing conditions.

JUDGE ANGRY, DENIES APPEAL

Calls Penalty Mild Enough For Unionist Who Kicked Used-Car Dealer.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — A Cleveland unionist convicted of assaulting Michael Abraham while the 42-year-old Lorain used-car dealer was dismantling a building here has been refused a new trial and probation.

Counsel for Ralph Hedges, 37, member of the AFL Structural Iron Workers union, filed notice of appeal after Municipal Judge William J. McDermott late yesterday overruled a motion for a new trial.

Now free on $2,500 bond, Hedges was sentenced to six months in the workhouse and fined $200 following his conviction for assault upon Abraham while the Lorain man was tearing down an East 55th street property which Abraham owned. In denying a new trial and probation, Judge McDermott said:

"All I can visualize every time this case is brought up is a mental picture of this man (pointing to Hedges) punching and kicking the other man. The penalty is not severe. If the maximum penalty had been greater the sentence would have been.

"You wouldn't think I was too severe if this had happened to you or your brother," the judge told Hedges' attorney. Counsel for the unionist had asked the court to allow Hedges to go to work "so the boys in Guadalcanal and other places have something to fight with."

AUSTRIANS IN U. S. ALLOWED TO FORM OWN ARMY BATTALION

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Formation of an Austrain battalion of the army of the United States has been authorized, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson has announced.

The unit will be an infantry battalion composed of Austrian citizens living in the United States.

Stimson said it was authorized in response to the appeal of many Austrians for an opportunity to serve together as a unit in freeing their homeland and other nations conquered by the Axis.

"It will demonstrate to Austrians all over the world the determination of the United States to free Austria and her people from oppressve Axis control," he said.

Stimson announced that Maj. Gen. Henry J. F. Miller, Miami, Fla., head of the air service command, has been assigned as commander of the air service command of the army forces in the European theater.

Regarding the Austrian battalion, Stimson said its officers first would be Americans of Austrian extraction, but they will be replaced by Austrians who qualify for commissions in officers schools.

Eligible men may volunteer for induction at their local selective service boards and if accepted will be sent directly to reception centers of the Austrian battalion.

The Austrian battalion is not the first special unit of foreigners in the U. S. army. A Norwegian battalion was created recently. There is a Filipino regiment. Certain Canadian troops are in the first special service corps training at Helena, Mont. There is also an organzation of American citizens of Japanese blood.

Up and Down THE STREET

Wednesday was a big day in the life of Anton Keipp, jr., steel worker, of Mansfield R. D. 5. It was Keipp's 39th birthday but more important than that, to him at least, was the fact that he was granted his papers of American citizenship. Keipp was one of the 95 Richland county persons who became citizens of the United States at their final hearing for naturalization held yesterday before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston. He was born in Yugoslavia, Nov. 18, 1903, and arrived in New York on the S. S. Maine, almost four years to the day after his birth.

It happened at the Mansfield Public Library when a group of first graders were visiting the children's department to learn the routine of becoming subscribers. The children's librarian, Miss Myra Lorimer, had just explained that the cards she had distributed were to be signed by parents and returned before the books could be issued. One little girl piped up with the remark that her "daddy couldn't sign the card because he is in Hawaii." That brought forth a comment from a second youngster that "my daddy is in the navy." Not to be outdone by all this fanfare a third child studied a moment and then thoughtfully said, "Well—I know a man who is in Australia."

Solicitor Wagner told police that a boy and girl who had been in the building selling chances on a punch board had been in the office shortly before the theft was discovered.

OPA READY TO SLASH SUPPLY OF CIVILIANS

New Cut and Ration Plans Called Result of Rising Military Needs.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The Office of Price Administration has decided tentatively to inaugurate stringent meat rationing to civilians around mid-January, a responsible source reported today.

With beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton supplies "awfully short for the armed forces already," a new cut in civilian allocations, which first were slashed last Oct. 1, probably will be ordered before Jan. 1, he said.

The new cut, which will be a direct result of our expanding military operations abroad, will hit beef supplies for civilians most severely despite the fact that civilian beef consumption already has been cut to 70 per cent of 1941.

This official emphasized that no specific date for start of the meat rationing program has been determined, but he said OPA would be ready by mid-January and that officials anticipate no reason to delay the program further, unless the current voluntary conservation campaign is unexpectedly successful.

He described the voluntary campaign, which is being conducted by the agriculture department, as "at least a stop gap." It is based on appeals to civilians to cut their meat consumption to 2½ pounds a week. That represents last year's average, but buying power is considerably greater this year.

Although 1942 meat production will reach record levels, serious and growing shortages have developed because of the tremendous requirements of the armed forces and others of the United Nations.

The OPA official said the 2½ pound limitation is "just about possible" under existing meat conservation orders which cut beef supplies to civilians to 70 per cent of 1941, lamb and mutton to 95 per cent, and pork to 75 per cent.

OPA Administrator Leon Henderson said in a Boston speech yesterday that the point system would be used to ration meat when it begins. That system is already in use in Great Britain.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry Underwood's warning rang in my ears on my way back to the hotel in the armored car my father had sent for me, and as I waited in my suite for the arrival of the old man of the cafe, I tried to steel myself for the difficult interview

I had been carried away in the cafe by sympathy for an apparently old and hunted man Now I was to face a man who, I had been warned might be plotting against the lives of Olga and Olina and Georges

But there was no way out of it now, and when the expected knock upon the door came, my hands and knees were trembling

Only the remembrance that my father was in the adjoining suite with the door ajar, so that I could get through it quickly in a possible emergency, enabled me to steady myself and go to my outer door to admit my strange visitor Then with my tiny silencer pistol concealed in my gown, I opened the door

Madge Reassured

The old man of the cafe an imposing figure in his bizarre get-up, stood just outside the door, hat in hand, a picture of formal, old-world courtesy, and as I held out my hand he bent and kissed it

'It is so good of you to permit me to come here," he said with earnest emphasis

"I am very glad to have you here" I said with a sudden relaxation of my fears His was no sinister errand I felt sure, despite the warnings I had received

But I felt a bit breathless as I gestured to a chair with a stand close to it Then with speed and deftness incredible for a man of his apparent age he laid his hat on the stand and reached my chair in time to seat me before he sat down

I knew he was regarding me intently and warily, and guessed that the strain on his nerves was even greater than it had been on mine before I opened the door

'You said you wished to see me about something most important,' I prodded him

"Oh, so important dear Madame Graham' he said with an appealing gesture When I have told you my errand here I shall have placed my life in your hands I wonder if I may ask of you a pledge that you will tell no one what I am going to reveal to you"

'I cannot make you that promise," I told him quickly. 'There are two people who may—please note that I say may—have to know what you are going to tell me I cannot determine that point until I have heard what it is"

"And those two persons are?" he said hoarsely

"My father and my husband," I said and saw him relax "You may rest assured that they, as well as I, will keep strict silence about anything you wish to tell me, until you give us permission to speak

'There is only one condition attached to that promise" I went on 'If what you intend to tell me has anything about it dangerous to the safety of the country—anything forgive me outside the law—just don't tell me for my promise of silence would not be kept Otherwise, I am ready to hear you"

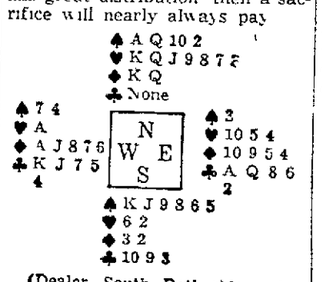
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE TIME TO OVERBID

On many deals either side can take the same number of tricks at its best suit as the opponents can take at their best declaration When the total possible for each side is low—usually because there are no very great suit-lengths out—it seldom pays to overbid and take a single-trick beating in a doubled contract to keep the foe from making a score, especially if you are vulnerable But if each side can make a large number of tricks because each has great distribution then a sacrifice will nearly always pay



(Dealer South Both sides vulnerable)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♦	1 ♥	2 ♣
2 ♠	3 ♣	4 ♠	5 ♣

As far as that bidding went in a rubber game, it was sound enough South made his 5-Spades, as anyone can easily see by examining the hands, since nothing could be taken against him except a trick in each red suit But further examination shows East and West able to make the amount they bid, 5-Clubs, a diamond and a spade trick being lost Such being the case, East and West did saved, if they had sacrificed at 6-Clubs East possibly should have made that call as his hand was so weak defensively

Two incidental points, not influencing the result, came up during that auction In the first place, East did exactly right by not supporting his partner's diamonds, showing the other minor suit instead As near as East could tell at the time, this bid might have been the key to a No Trump contract if West had the other suits stopped Of course, if that first named suit had been a major, support enough They would have reaped a rich dividend in points porting it would have been the thing

The later point came with East's second bid With his four diamonds he knew about the same number of tricks should have been makable at either minor But if he bid 5-Diamonds, he would have told the opponents something about how to defend the hand with their being informed in advance about the side suit fit Even if he had been a bit stronger and a slam looked likely that bid might have told the enemy how to beat the contract, with an immediate ruff if the opening leader had the remainders of the side suit

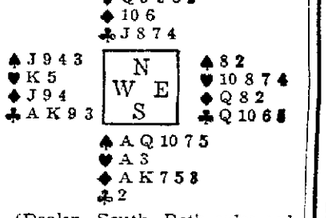
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer South Both sides vulnerable)

What would you consider perfect play by both sides on this deal with South essaying a contract of 4 Spades?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Nov. 21.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

Of enduring and stabilizing influence is a notable lunar aspect which should be permitted to find expression by refraining from tumultuous, impetuous and quarrelsome or vindictive conduct, which might have force to set aside or postpone some really worthwhile efforts With poise, prudence and sound judgment there may be promise of building basic foundations for future development and long-term success This may concern industry, investments, savings or securities of established worth

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of some safe and sound success, gained by labor, rational ideas, savings, investments or long-term securities Property is also on a firm foundation, but this is all subject to risk or jeopardy by impetuous, rash emotionalism or indulgence in whims or "hunches' Also there may be danger from a public or group entanglement or scheme.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Gate receipts still speak louder than words in the North Central Ohio league—louder than all the words written by the various sports scriveners over the circuit.

So, in spite of all the words that had been written in Ashland, Mt. Vernon, Shelby and even in Marion papers to the effect that this week's league meeting would see Marion either ousted or withdrawing from the circuit, not a word was spoken on the subject when the league moguls got together.

Seems Marion was not yet ready to branch out into big time football, and the rest of the league didn't care to lose its best drawing card.

Marion's demand that it be given permission to play home basketball games on a small junior high court had been looked upon as the chief stumbling block in the path of Marion's continued membership in the league.

Instead it proved merely a stepping stone for future league competition by the Presidents. Only one school hesitated in giving permission for play on the junior high court. The others came through with alacrity.

Mt. Vernon, struggling along with a $1,400 deficit in the athletic department, drew its biggest gate of the past football season with Marion. So what if the Marion paper did accuse the Jackets of dirty football?

It's been some time since the weather drew an automatic curtain on the golf season of 1942.

And News-Journal B-league golfers are just now learning that their president, Pop Davis, has been very ill for the past six weeks, just about the time he finished his club swinging for the summer.

Pop, who was re-elected to head the B-league for next summer is reported improving at his home, 224 Clairmont avenue.

Did you know dept.:—That Pete Henry has been playing a lot of fullback for Lakewood high school which met its first defeat last week at the hands of Canton McKinley?

No, it isn't Mansfield's Pete Henry, who is athletic director and head football coach at Washington and Jefferson.

But it's Mansfield Pete's cousin, and son of Mike Henry who used to hit a lot of home runs for the Steel Mill in the old industrial league at Davey field.

And if young Pete has been playing the kind of fullback for Lakewood that cousin Pete used to play for Mansfield—brother, you know he's been playing plenty of fullback.

WILLIE PEP TRIES FOR FEATHER TITLE

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—In Madison Square Garden tonight, Willie Pep, dynamic young Hartford, Conn., Italian, will attempt to wrest the New York model of the world featherweight crown from Chalky Wright, ancient Los Angeles Negro.

The largest fight crowd of the year—one that may exceed 20,000 fans—is expected to witness this 15-round battle.

Buckeyes Pointed For Game

Edge May Decide Grid Battle at Columbus.

By JOHN COLBURN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—That indefinable something known in sports as "an edge"—an intangible mental and physical sharpness—may decide the nation's top football classic between Michigan and Ohio State here tomorrow.

That was how close the two speedy, powerful Western conference squads stacked up today as they rested for the encounter before some 80,000 fans. It'll be an "edge" that'll give one of the teams that extra spurt to beat an equally strong opponent.

Michigan had a keen "edge" last week in beating Notre Dame 32 to 20. If Michigan can key itself up again this week it may blast Ohio's conference championship hopes. If it cannot, look out! Ohio has pointed for this one all season.

Both teams finished their heavy practice sessions yesterday, polishing new plays and taking another look at the foe's formations.

Ohio gridders will take a brief "limbering up" workout this afternoon, but Michigan will spend the time traveling. It will not see any action again until Saturday's pre-game warm-up sessions.

Tommy James, Ohio's injured "spot" runner, worked out for the first time yesterday but did not appear to be in condition to see much action. He could barely use his right arm because of a shoulder separation suffered in the Illinois game.

James' injury left it up to George Slusser, like James a Massillon product, to alternate with Paul Sarringhaus of Hamilton, the left halfback, and Les Horvath of Cleveland, the right halfback.

Outside of a dearth of halfbacks, Ohio was in good condition. Michigan has an abundance of backfield material, but has been forced to use its regular linemen—the "seven oak posts"—most of each game due to a lack of reserve strength.

Michigan, with a fourth place national ranking to Ohio's fifth in the Associated Press poll of sports experts, ruled a slight favorite. But there were plenty of bets, with all kinds of odds, floating around favoring both elevens.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan coach, informed that Michigan was a 10 to 7 favorite, said. "Isn't that funny? The last time we were favorites in a big game was up at Minneapolis and remember what happened? Our scout, Ernie McCoy, said Ohio State is the best team in the mid-west and that's the assumption we're working on as we leave here."

Michigan lost its only conference game to Minnesota. Ohio also lost one, to Wisconsin. For the season Michigan has won six and lost two, while Ohio's record is seven and one.

As One Captain to Another

Captain Harold Hammer (left) of this year's Madison high school football team is shown presenting Captain-elect Wallace Campbell with his letter at the Madison football banquet last night.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Reading the papers:

What may be one of the season's most significant news items—from the sports standpoint—was noted in an Oklahoma City paper the other day. . . . It told of the University of Oklahoma regents discussing the conversion of the institution to a "war college," and contained a prediction by President Joseph A. Brant that the change would take place within a few months. . . . Oklahoma is only one of a number of colleges that may go on a total war basis.

CONTRARY OPINIONS.

On the same page in the Boston Globe there recently appeared a story that Ralph W. Ellis, Springfield, Mass., banker, would miss his first Harvard-Yale football game in 67 years tomorrow "because he doesn't think college football teams should be playing when there's a war on."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE.

Sammy Angott isn't the first lightweight champion to retire while wearing the crown. . . . Way back in 1872 Abe Hicken, the first recognized American lightweight titleholder, retired. So did his successors, Arthur Chambers, Jack McAuliffe and Benny Leonard. And Barney Ross gave up the title when he outgrew the class.

SERVICE DEPT.

When the Jacksonville (Fla.) Naval Air Station plays the Pensacola Fliers tomorrow, only four of Jacksonville's 1941 players will be on the squad. Most of the others are on sea duty. . . . When Cliff Holmgren, former St. Paul baseball publicitor, got around to dropping a line from Ireland to Lou McKenna, the Saints' business manager, he wrote: "I have met only one McKenna since being stationed in Ireland. He was a street cleaner."

Rams Set Up Grid Schedule

Plan To Go Ahead With Football Next Fall.

Adopting a "go ahead and see what happens" policy, Madison high school is planning its football schedule for 1943.

That was disclosed at the Madison Rams' football banquet last night by Principal W. E. Miller, who told the 225 persons attending the dinner that Madison will make every effort to fill out a home card of four or five games next fall.

"We may have to play Class A schools to do it," Miller said, "since we are on the border line between Class A and B, do not belong to a league, and have difficulty getting Class B schools to play us."

Madison has trips to Orrville, Loudonville, Marion St. Mary and Mt. Gilead already on the schedule for next year, and home games with New London and Bellville.

Rev. Grover Swoyer as principal speaker of the evening, gave an entertaining and at the same time, inspirational talk in which he emphasized that the fighting spirit demonstrated by the Rams on the gridiron this fall, as they won six out of seven games, although outweighed in each game, is the same kind of fighting spirit that will defeat the Axis and bring back freedom to the world.

Most important ceremony of the evening was the awarding of letters by Coach Al Fendrick to 15 members of this year's team: Dick Gross, Carol Tucker, Dick Bishop, Jack Morrison, Charles Higgins, Jack Spriesterbach, Joe Harfman, Stanley Rinehart, Delbert Poston, Dick Bader, Bob Anthony, Billy Wynn, and Captain Harold Hammer who introduced next year's captain, Wallace Campbell. Letters were also awarded to Managers "Curly" Shaw, Russ Hulit and Don Eggleston.

Assistant Coach Foster Laribee introduced members of the reserve squad.

Gil Baird of Westinghouse handled the duties of toastmaster in his usual brisk and entertaining style, and kept the program moving at top speed.

Short talks were given by Supt. Olan LaRue, Philip Kipp, president of the board of education, Ray Anthony, president of the Boosters club, and Rex Hess, sports editor of the News-Journal.

The fine dinner was prepared and served by girls of the home economics class under the direction of Miss Lenore Mills.

Takes Ohio On Coin Flip

No Use Experting on This, Says Barker.

By HERB BARKER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Staggering down the home stretch of the football guessing marathon:

Michigan-Ohio State: Don't even try to expert this one. It's a guess no matter how you look at it. Two high-scoring outfits which likewise have been fairly easy to score on. The only safe prediction on this is that it should be wide-open and free-scoring. Resorting strictly to the coin . . . Ohio State.

KNOTT DRAFTED

BROWNWOOD, Tex. — (AP) — Jack H. Knott, 34, Philadelphia Athletics pitcher, has been notified by the Brown county draft board to report Tuesday for induction into the army.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Providence Reds Climb In Race

(By United Press)

The Providence Reds climbed to within a single point of the idle pace-setting Hershey Bears in the Eastern division of the American Hockey league by walloping the New Haven Eagles, 6-0 Thursday night as Buffalo's Bisons increased their Western division margin to six points by defeating the runner-up Indianapolis Caps, 3-1.

The Reds scored in every period, topping their assault with a three-run blast in the second, as Goalie Mike Karakas blanked the Eagles.

Buffelo plunged a single goal into the Caps' net in each period, Maury Rimstad clicking for a pair and Fred Hunt notching the other. Jim Weaver accounted for the single Indianapolis' goal in the first period.

Rickey Strips Dodger Color

NEW YORK—(AP)—The curtain has come down on the best burlesque in town—the take-off on baseball known as the Flatbush Follies, or the Life and Good Times of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Branch Rickey, the new president of the Beloved Bums, announced yesterday that Leo Durocher had signed a contract to manage the Dodgers for his fifth season, but made it amply clear that things would be different around Ebbets field next year.

Gambling will be gone. Coach Charley Dressen will be gone and with him, presumably, some of the furious feuds the club has waged with all its rivals in the National league. Coach Fred Fitzsimmons probably will be gone . . . perhaps to Montreal as manager and possible heir to Durocher's throne.

* * *

Rickey said Durocher would be manager but would be signed to a player's contract, not a manager's. One of the advantages to the club of this will be that he can be released on ten days' notice without the Dodgers having to pay his salary for a full season. The amount of his salary was not disclosed. Last season Durocher's contract was understood to have called for $23,500 plus bonuses.

Bulldogs Hope to Upset Massillon

MASSILLON—(AP)—Those irrepressible Massillon Tigers, with a football record unsurpassed nationally, meet their toughest foes tomorrow—Canton McKinley, that "grudge" rival from down the tracks.

McKinley has tied one game and lost one, but steady improvement displayed during the past three weeks has raised the hopes of its followers that it can beat Massillon, something no team has been able to do since 1937.

Massillon will be handicapped by the injury of Bobby Graver, its triple-threat backfield star, who has a sprained ankle.

Twenty-two thousand fans, more than most colleges attract, will watch the struggle in Massillon's stadium.

Massillon's record for national football supremacy is based on 94 victories and two ties against three defeats in 99 games played since 1933.

McKinley hasn't beaten Massillon since 1934.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of our Soldier Son, PFC William Don Doty, who died Nov. 20th, Thanksgiving day, 1941.

A year has gone since you were here
you laughed as you said goodbye
But I saw the tear, I heard the sigh
As you left the ones so dear.

You did not know, nor did I,
We would never meet again
But my boy, to me you do still live
Your smile, I see it just the same.

Soon God will call me too, you know,
So I won't grieve or cry
Because I know God answers prayer
And I will meet you, my son, up There.

LEADERS POST RECOVERIES ON STOCK MARKET

Merchandising Dollar Volume For Entire Nation Still Showing Improvement.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Fractional recoveries were posted by leading stocks in today's early market transactions.

Improved at a quiet opening were U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Western Union, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Standard Oil (NJ), General Electric and Standard Brands.

Those watching retail spending for market trend clues found some encouragement in the Dun & Bradstreet survey estimate this week's merchandising dollar volume for the country as a whole increased 14 to 17 per cent over the like period in 1941.

The federal reserve board, on the other hand, reported a letdown in last week's department store distribution as compared with the preceding week.

QUIZZING 3,000 IN MASS MURDER

Oregon State Police Try To Find Lunatic Who Put Poison in Eggs.

Killop, Miss O'Hara and other members of the hospital staff, had keys to the store rooms. Wednesday afternoon, McKillop opened several cans of quick-freeze egg yolks, contributed to the hospital by the federal government, and poured them into bowls. He was preparing the supper of the 460 inmates rational enough to work around the hospital who get a "worker's diet."

The bowls were unwatched for a moment while he went to the store room for powdered milk to add to the yolks and while he made his batter and cooked the eggs, she rolled and baked biscuits. The food was then carried to the five wards of the working inmates where, within the hour, it was convulsing scores of men and women with acute stomach cramps together with p...alysis of the respiratory organs.

McKillop didn't cook all the batter. What remained was subjected to chemical analysis and showed no trace of poison. This seemed to rule out any possibility of negligence. Other cans of egg yolk from the same consignment, all of which had been under sub-zero refrigeration for six months, were exarcined and found pure.

"As soon as I received the report that deaths at the state hospital were caused by chemical poison," Gov. Sprague said, "I directed the state police to take charge of the investigation and to leave no stone unturned in an effort to fix responsibility for this mass murder.

"There's nothing wrong with these eggs. The poison was evidently added in the preparation of the food."

Dr. John C. Evans, superintendent of the hospital, had hesitated to say whether the poisoning was intentional or due to carelessness. Capt. Walter Lansing of the state police and Dr. Franke Menne, University of Oregon pathologist who identified the poison, aid they remained open-minded regarding an intentional poisoning theory.

Evans and his staff of six doctors and 10 nurses, who have been on duty continuously since Wednesday evening, fought to save the lives of 12 inmates who remained "dangerously ill."

CHAPTER XXI

Livia and Fordyce went to Ciro's. Two girls at the entrance of the restaurant demanded Livia's autograph.

"You were wonderful," one of them said shyly after Livia had signed her name.

Charles smiled. He was as pleased with her success as he was with his own. Tonight, he knew, he could make the best pictures in town.

Livia hesitated on the threshold.

"Is Alice in there?" she queried.

"What if she is?" said Fordyce He knew she was not.

After the preview in the lobby of the theater, there had been the usual gush and the people who drooled, "You were wonderful, Alice." But she was so angry she could barely control herself. In a fierce undertone she had threatened Hal Schneider with divorce. If only she would, Fordyce thought; then he really could make pictures. Husband and wife had gone home to continue the fight in their luxurious mansion

"I wouldn't be surprised if Alice murders Schneider tonight," Fordyce said to Livia. She giggled and said.

"Perhaps Schneider will take the initiative"

"Not he," said Fordyce. "He's too scared. He's still in love with her."

"Weren't you at one time?" Livia teased him.

"Let's dance"

Ciro's was full of people who had attended the preview, they looked with interest at Livia and Fordyce. Livia rested her red-gold head on Charles' shoulder and smiled happily at the dancers shuffling on the crowded floor, her eyes drifting to the green and silver walls. She saw Bruce with the Countess Saskia. He seemed unhappy Things were going badly with the Saskia Nolan picture partnership.

When Bruce had agreed to produce "Western Saga," the Countess had promised to furnish the money and leave the rest to the experts. He had believed her. Bruce hired technicians he had worked with in his stunting days. He was popular with electricians, prop men, and carpenters. They could depend on fair treatment from Bruce.

The Countess gave him $50,000 the day he signed the contract. They drove to the bank together to deposit the money.

The picture was ready to shoot in three weeks. According to their agreement, the Countess was to furnish another $100,000.

"But I gave you $50,000," pouted the Countess. Bruce patiently explained where and how it had been spent and reminded her of their agreement.

"What do I care about contracts?" said the Countess. "All I know is that my money is gone, and the picture hasn't started yet." Bruce thought of the people who awaited their weekly salaries from him and refrained from quitting.

"You must trust me, Saskia," he said, taking her hands between his own. "Be patient and trust me."

She snuggled close to him

"You've neglected me shamefully," she whispered.

"All these weeks it's business, every evening That's not fair to me." He might have guessed what would happen and saved himself trouble by not working for a woman in the first place. You had to make love to them twenty-four hours a day or they said you were neglecting them.

"You still love me—don't you?" said Countess Saskia. He tried to recall the exact occasion on which he had said he loved her And for the life of him couldn't remember.

"Let's forget business this evening. We'll have dinner together," he suggested. Her face brightened

"That's my own Brucie. I'm sorry I was mean to you. I'll bring you a check for the money tomorrow" Bruce stifled his sigh of relief. Once let him get the picture finished and he could convince the Countess that the arrangement was purely one of business.

But perhaps she guessed this, because after two weeks of production, she came to the set one afternoon and tried to take control. Bruce had hired a popular star, ranked high in the list of open-air heroes After the Countess had repeatedly interrupted his dialogue, he turned on his high-heeled boots and marched off the set and into Bruce's office.

"I'm through," he said. "No dame can tell Jack Condon how to read his lines."

Bruce hurried to the sound stage and found the Countess haranguing the director for not firing his star immediately.

"Get off the set," Bruce commanded sternly. She was alarmed and followed him out. "If you do that again," he warned her in his office, "I'm through. D'ye understand?"

She wept. "You're the meanest man I ever met. I can't think why I fell in love with you. I hate you."

"Never mind that now," said Bruce. "Either I finish this picture without interference from yu — or you finish it yourself" Countess Saskia was frightened. There was now $150,000 tied up in the film. And she did not want to lose it—or Bruce.

"If you only came to see me once in a while, I wouldn't come to the silly studio at all"

Bruce compromised. "I'll see you on Sunday."

There were two more weeks to go on the picture.

"Let's celebrate the end of the picture by getting married?" said the Countess slowly.

Bruce grinned and said: "Where I come from, the man asks the woman."

"You're cruel to me," she whimpered. But she was not discouraged. There were more ways of getting what you wanted than by asking. And she was shrewd enough to know that at the moment, Bruce meant what he said.

The film was completed. And now the Countess played her trump card. She decided to hold up the release until Bruce yielded to her charms.

When Livia saw them at Ciro's, Bruce was making a final plea for justice. The Countess was vague and exasperating when he mentioned the film. He was getting angry. And seeing Livia dancing with Fordyce did not make him feel better.

Livia called after him as they crossed the ballroom floor to the exit, but he pretended not to hear.

"You really like that guy, don't you?" said Fordyce tightening his arm around her slender waist. She blushed and said vehemently:

"I wanted to tell him about our picture—that was all."

"You look lovely," Charles told her. "Can you blush in technicolor?" Her eyes clouded.

"I'm going to be a star," she told herself with renewed exultation "Then I can have Bruce or any man I want."

The next day she was fired.

At ten in the morning, Hal Schneider telephoned Fordyce.

"Are you coming in?" he asked. The director had intended driving Livia to the beach.

"Can it wait until tomorrow?" he asked his boss.

"No," said Schneider heavily.

As Fordyce entered Schneider's office Alice said, "Why was I not told that Livia Clarkson was in my picture?"

"You can read can't you? Or can you?" said Fordyce. "It was in all the trade papers."

"Oh, no it wasn't," she screamed. She was right At Livia's suggestion, her name had been kept off the production schedule.

One of Schneider's three secretaries interrupted:

"The New York call is waiting, Mr. Schneider." He picked up the receiver.

"No you don't," said Alice. She snatched the receiver and brought it down on his hand. Schneider squealed in pain and looked helplessly at Fordyce, but made no attempt to recover the telephone. "You both thought you were pretty smart," Alice said, "You and that girl—you thought you could put something over on me—"

"Alice, my darling, what are you complaining about? The picture is a success—the office in New York wants to congratulate me. It'll make a million dollars."

"You." Alice wheeled on her husband. "You—why you miserable little—" Schneider retreated to the back of his desk. Fordyce grinned. Schneider was the most important producer in Hollywood, but no one would guess it now.

"Alice my darling, the girl is fired. I told you. She is fired" This was the first Charles had heard of it.

"I want her part cut out of the picture," Alice hissed dramatically "She would never have been in it in the first place if you hadn't tricked me." Alice glared at Fordyce, who met her eyes steadily and with contempt.

"But, my darling, we can't do that now without re-making the picture." moaned Schneider.

"Then re-make the picture," mimicked Alice in her husband's slightly foreign accent. Schneider clutched his partly-bald head.

"What have I ever done to deserve such treatment?" he asked the ceiling. He was due at a bankers' meeting in ten minutes, and to placate his wife, if only temporarily, he said, "All right. I will see if we can re-make the picture and cut Miss Clarkson out entirely."

"You don't mean that, Schneider?" said Fordyce quietly. The producer tried to convey with his eyes that of course he didn't mean that. But Alice was watching him. He spread his hands supplicatingly first to Fordyce, then to Alice.

"Tell him what you really mean, darling," cooed Alice.

"We will cut Miss Clarkson's part and re-shoot with another girl," he said heavily. "And now excuse me. I have to go to an important meeting." Fordyce blocked his way to the door.

ARE WE GOING TO HAVE ENOUGH FOOD?

In The Midst Of Plenty, Americans Must Adjust Food Buying To Wartime Conditions. Here's The Truth About The Food Situation—Facts Every Homemaker Should Know To Make The Most Of Our Supply!

BLESSED with good weather, America's farming families have labored long and well to bring forth a mighty harvest—by every standard the greatest in our country's history. For this we can give humble thanks. From the standpoint of our total food supply, no one need go hungry. But even with this unprecedented bounty of grain, fruit, vegetables, live stock and dairy products, we have been jarred to learn that our "plenty" is hardly enough. Here are the facts about the food situation.

Increased Demand—Not only must we keep our own soldiers and sailors the best-fed fighting men on earth, but we must act as the larder as well as the arsenal of our many brave allies. Thus the demand is tremendous—so tremendous that even the amazing productivity of American farmers cannot meet it.

Shortages in Farm Labor—Industry and the armed forces are drawing increasingly large numbers of workers from farms. The farm labor shortage is very real. Even now the services of women, children and old people are required to get crops grown and harvested.

Shortages in Farm Machinery—Under the pressure of arms production, farm-machinery manufacture is cut to one-fifth of the 1940 volume—at a time when the need for farm machinery is greater than ever before.

Shortages in Transportation—Farm products are bulky, heavy—as are the goods farmers buy for production. That means heavy demands on rubber and rail transport, now seriously curtailed. Warning for the future is that bulky items without much food value probably will not be shipped at all

HOW TO MEET THIS EMERGENCY

Share the Meat—To provide Army, Navy and Lend-Lease needs, and insure a fair share of meat for all civilians, the government is asking that we voluntarily hold our weekly meat purchases to 2½ pounds per person over 12 years of age. This amount of meat would be considered a luxury by Europeans. Nevertheless it calls for greater consumption of other protein foods such as milk, beans, cheese, poultry, eggs, peanuts; greater use of cheaper cuts, leftover meats, gravy and drippings; spreading the meat flavor by mixing it with other foods.

Shop Wisely—Buy "Victory Food Specials"!—To release for overseas more canned or dried foods, government and industry are promoting Victory Food Specials—perishable foods that are in season and plentiful Watch for these "Specials" on display at your grocers. When you buy them you help save tin and shipping and release more foods for our fighting men!

Help Cut Down Deliveries—Unless present delivery equipment is carefully maintained, the bread on the family dinner table and milk for baby's bottle are definitely hazarded. For your protection, government has ordered stores to eliminate special deliveries, call-backs and multiple trips to the same sections—and further reduce delivery mileage by 25%. Don't blame your grocer for delays. He's doing the best he can. Help out by planning your orders. Carry all you can or buy ahead for the whole week!

Buy What Is Produced Locally—If there's locally caught fish on the market where you live, eat it regularly. Do the same with perishable fruits and vegetables grown in neighboring districts. By taking up the surplus in your own community you relieve the transportation shortage.

Coffee . . . Don't Waste It—Coffee will be rationed beginning Nov. 29th, but don't "take it out" on your grocer. Remember . . . ships are carrying more precious cargoes nowadays! Actually, there's still enough coffee for our armed forces, civilians, institutions. But there's none to waste! Make only what you're sure to drink.

Fats and Grease for The Firing Line—Fats and grease make glycerine . . . glycerine makes explosives . . . explosives are essential to victory! Your job is to: 1. Save pan and broiler drippings, deep fats—all waste cooking fats. 2. Pour and strain them into a clean, wide-mouthed can. 3. Keep in a refrigerator or cool, dark place to prevent them from becoming rancid. 4. Sell them to your meat dealer in quantities of one pound or more at the current price per pound. He will start them on their way to war industries . . . and the guns, tanks and planes of our men at the front!

Follow These 5 Commandments—As a patriotic American, and as a wise and thrifty homemaker, be guided by these five commandments of wartime menu planning:

1. Buy what is plentiful.
2. Buy what is fresh.
3. Buy what is produced locally.
4. Buy what the government asks you to buy through its Victory Food Program.
5. Don't hoard or waste food.

Now, as always, the House of Heinz is extending every effort to provide you with the most delicious, highest-quality foods that can be produced. Yet because of the tin shortage and the vast quantities of food needed for our fighting forces, you may have difficulty getting some of your old favorites.

When your grocer does have sufficient supplies of the 57 Varieties, however, don't buy more than you need. For your neighbor, too, wants to share the old-time goodness and flavor of these famous keystone-labeled foods.

There is still plenty of those spicy Heinz Condiments and Pickles to brighten meatless meals and thrift dishes. Soon also, your grocer will have six new Condensed Soups that taste just as good as the pre-war ready-to-serve kind.

Heinz Research Department is still forging ahead with experiments on new products and packaging methods so that you will be able to continue enjoying Heinz home-tasting foods, despite wartime demands and restrictions.

NAZIS ROUTED BY ALLIES IN TUNISIA FIGHT

Three Panzer Columns Take Drubbing, Bengasi Falls To British Army.

ty far into Tunisia," a spokesman said at Allied headquarters in North Africa.

Field dispatches indicated that the Allies, fighting off challenging ground detachments and planes, have driven 50 miles by the coastal road or 35 miles by air from the Algerian frontier toward Bizerte, French naval base at which the Nazis are expected to attempt a stand.

Strong British and American forces have passed over the coastal spur of the Atlas mountains near the Tunisian border and reached the plain and rail line which leads to Bizerte, Axis broadcasts disclosed.

The Paris radio said the first ground clash was in the region between the port of La Calle, in eastern Algeria, and the Tunisian railhead of Tabarka, 20 miles to the east.

The Morocco raido said Allied patrols destroyed eight of 30 German tanks engaged in north Tunisia Tuesday; that three Nazi tanks were knocked out in another encounter which led to a German rout; and that parachutists last night wrecked six enemy armored vehicles and took several prisoners.

"A few British anti-tank guns and heavy guns" were reported to have been put out of action in the fighting Tuesday.

A communique from Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said "there is nothing new to report" from this western arm of the three-way pincer closing upon the last Axis strongholds in North Africa.

Power politics blended with action at arms in the vast struggle for control of the Mediterranean.

Marshal Petain again called on all Frenchmen in North Africa to "resist the Anglo-Saxon aggression" and—although the very repetition of the theme testified to the inefficiency of such appeals in the past—fighting French sources in London said this was fresh evidence of Dictator Pierre Laval's efforts to ally Vichy militarily with Berlin.

Informed European diplomatic sources said Generalissimo Francisco Franco had informed both the Axis and the United Nations that Spain—lying between British Gibraltar and German-occupied France—would accept aid immediately from the other side if either seized any of her sea and air bases.

The Berlin radio, for some propaganda purpose of its own, said the reserve of official German quarters in commenting on the North African situation was regarded by some observers as an indication that a surprise was in the air. Its nature was not even hinted.

Reuters reported from Ankara, however, that 10 Hungarian divisions had left home barracks for Greece and 13 German divisions were moving from the Russian front toward the Balkans in a general strengthening of the Axis positions on that southeastern flank.

Although Marshal Rommel is harried by Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army in his retreat toward the El Agheila corridor, the Berlin radio declared that his movements "become even more exemplary in this difficult tactical operation."

It was announced in Cairo that the RAF had seized more than 120 Axis landing grounds in Cirenaica (eastern Libya) and more than 550 enemy aircraft destroyed, damaged or captured intact on or near them.

Overnight reports were lacking on the progress of the Allied force previously reported striking northward toward the Mediterranean from the Fighting French bases at Lake Chad, French Equatorial Africa.

The Morocco radio said sporadic revolts among the French garrisons of Tunisia against infiltrations by German and Italian forces flamed into a general offensive at dawn yesterday as General Barre, commander of the protectorate, got the jump on German General Walther Nehring, who had ordered him to withdraw from Tunisia or join the Axis.

Despite resistance, however, the Germans were reported to have captured the town hall and barracks of Gabes, landing several light tanks and 200 air-borne infantrymen at that strategic port 200 miles south of Tunis and 200 miles west of Tripoli.

Tells Tragedy of Lost U. S. Squadron

WITH A UNITED STATES TASK FORCE, CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Nov. 15 — (Delayed)—(AP)—The tragic story of the "lost squadron"—four American assault boats which ran into French destroyer fire here while they were reaching for the Fedhala landing beaches—was told today by Sec. Lieut. Edward W. Wellman of New York City.

He and 71 other survivors were captured by the French after the destroyer riddled the first two assault boats when she was hailed in the belief she was a United States warship.

They were among the few Americans taken prisoner during three days of fighting.

There were 19 casualties in the engagement. Seventeen men in the first boat to be sunk swam three and one-half miles to safety, some without lifebelts.

Wellman, formerly employed in the advertising department of the New York Daily News and whose New York address is the Hotel Ambassador, himself received minor injuries.

Say Weygand Spurned Service Under Petain

BERN, Switzerland —(AP)— The Journal De Geneve said today Gen. Maxime Weygand, former Allied generalissimo, had been arrested after refusing the Vichy post as heir to Marshal Petain, which subsequently was given Pierre Laval, and that he was now reported held in Germany.

The account was confirmed by foreign diplomats.

(Leon Moranbat, fighting French trade unionist, said in London yestetrday that General Weygand was arrested by the gestapo after the Germans marched across the Demarcation line of France, but was freed 24 hours later. A Rome broadcast said he was under arrest in Germany.)

Patterson Calls For More U. S. Soldiers

NEW YORK —(AP)— While the Allies have greater manpower resources, the enemy has "superior land forces in the field," says Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, who contends "it is up to us to furnish the soldiers who will give us superiority in numbers over the Axis powers."

He declared last night that "by the end of this year we will have more than 1,000,000 men overseas," but added:

"There is no plan to send the entire army abroad."

Patterson said that in estimating the need for soldiers "we must bear in mind the long lines of communication that must be strongly held," continuing: "In this the Axis powers have the advantage, for their shorter, interior lines require much less protection."

Patterson declared that "the destruction of submarines will be stepped up, and the day will finally come, as it came in 1918, when German crews will refuse to go down into submarines."

Nazis Claim Sinking of Eight Convoy Ships

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—(AP)—A DNB dispatch said today German submarines sank eight merchantmen laden with war materials and fired a large tanker in an attack on a Britian-bound convoy in the North Atlantic yesterday.

The vessels were declared to have totaled 55,000 tons.

(There was no confirmation of this enemy claim from Allied quarters.)

believe he is coming home. Have hunch."

This telegram received in Mansfield at 12:51 p. m. followed the cable signed by the flyer and received here at 7:02 a. m.

The latter message however bore the date, Nov. 7, indicating that 11 days had elapsed between the time it was sent and the time it was delivered unless an error had been made in the date of sending on the message and it was actually dispatched at the same time the flyer had cabled his wife, Nov. 17.

The cable read:

"Hold Christmas parcel. May transfer. Advise later. My luck still good. Look for surprize. Love.

Ray Foltz."

This was the first cable that the parents of the flyer had received from their son since he had informed them, about two weeks ago that he was being transferred to the American Air Force and might be home soon for a visit. He expected to serve in this country as an instructor.

In view of the contents of the message received by their daughter-in-law, the parents of the airman are making every effort to check the actual date on which the cable dated Nov. 7 was sent.

Previous cables from their son have been delivered, on an average, in 13 hours, while this particular cable, from the marking on it, required 11 days.

Western Union officials here said they could offer no explanation.

The Mansfield flyer, who won praise from the British Air Ministry for bringing his bomber and crew home safely from a raid over Germany, had been operating from British bases for 10 months. He was born in Mansfield, Feb. 2, 1916, and graduated from Mansfield Senior high school.

was on the dock to greet the officers and crew.

"I want you men to know your job was well done," he said. "I want you to get your ship in shape and get back there as quickly as possible."

Three officers and 104 of the Boise's crew were killed in the battle in which the cruiser was outnumbered and out-gunned. The ship has six-inch guns and fought her way out in the face of attack from the Jap force armed with eight-inch guns.

During the fierce battle, the U. S. cruiser was ripped, battered, and enveloped in mast-high flames. Other craft in the American cruiser-destroyer pack left her behind as fatally stricken.

Six Japanese flags were painted on her bridge, and besides them the silhouettes of two heavy cruisers, one light crüiser and three destroyers. Members of the crew pointed proudly to this scoreboard. They said the battle was like bowling ten pins.

communique said "one ammunition dump was blown up and 19 artillery batteries and seven mortars silenced."

This communique said that in the Stalingrad area last night in one sector German infantry and tanks broke through to the rear of two Russian units but a fierce counterthrust restored the lines, killing 170 Germans and destroying five tanks.

The rest of the overnight picture was one of stabilized lines and relatively little activity except near Tuapse along the Black sea soast where the Germans were reported driven back in efforts to re-take positions recently won by the Russians.

As the news of victory spread around the capital today it produced smiles, handshakes and backslappings along the streets as the people accepted it as conclusive proof of an offensive strength in the Caucasus which had not been shown before.

The Caucasus booty count included 140 tanks, seven armored cars, 70 guns, 95 mortars, 84 machine-guns, 2,350 trucks, 183 motorcycles, a million or more cartridges, two ammunition dumps, and supply dumps.

JAPAN'S FLEET TOLL MOUNTS TO 38 SHIPS

from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

The Allied troops, which opened an offensive against the New Guinea invaders early in September, neared the end of their drive as they forced the retreating Japanese toward the coast between Gona and their Buna base.

With MacArthur taking personal charge of the final thrusts, the Allied command reported the Australian forces "now pin the enemy down" in one narrow coastal strip.

Cleaning this base of the Japanese would open the way to Allied invasion of two other enemy-held bases on New Guinea, Lae and Salamaua, and also the important base at Rabaul on New Britain.

In addition to sinking the cruiser and destroyer, the Allied heavy bombers dropped 500 pound bombs in the night raid on another destroyer off the Gona shore and blasted landing barges.

The historic Solomons naval battle, which cost the United States two light cruisers and six destroyers, also brought death to an estimated 20,000 to 40,000 Japanese troops when eight transports were sent to the bottom.

The Japanese have admitted loss of a battleship in the conflict, a cruiser and three destroyers but claimed that eight American cruisers were sunk, one transport and four or five destroyers.

ized last January at an annual salary of $2,000.

On the heels of Hamilton's appointment to the rent job at $3,800 a year a "citizen's committee" representing the Richland county CIO and AFL councils filed protests with the OPA and their charges were aired at a conference Wednesday night with Roland Schell, regional rent director, from Cleveland.

In announcing his resignation, Hamilton said that some time ago he was approached by an OPA official. "I wanted to be in a position which had to do with defense work and assumed that my acceptance would receive the approval of the most factions in Mansfield," Hamilton said.

"Since the appointment was made," his letter continued, "there have been certain factions which violently protested the appointment. In view of this, I have resigned * * * not wanting to hold a position without the complete support of all concerned."

In addition to the director's $3,800 salary the rent office, designed to serve Richland, Crawford and Ashland counties, has an attorney, George H. Blecker, at an unreported rental on the offices in the two inspectors at $2,000 each; one assistant clerk-stenographer at $1,620; one junior stenographer at $1,440, and a junior typist at $1,260. These salaries are accompanied by rental on the offices in the Gardner garage, 116 Park avenue west, and various incidental expenses.

Supplemental rationing applications will be received by a corps of volunteer registrars working in the gymnasium of John Simpson Junior high school afternoons and evenings next week, from 1 to 5 p. m. and 6 to 9 p. m., excepting Thursday and Sunday, with the registration closing on Monday, Nov. 30.

In Washington today a group of 75 congressmen representing midwestern states considered petitioning President Roosevelt for an executive order staying the actual rationing of gasoline scheduled to start Dec. 1.

This committee, which came into being yesterday, planned action as another bloc of 10 rebellious congressmen prepared to make formal protest to Price Administrator Leon Henderson urging a 90-day postponement.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1942.

Do your Christmas shopping early—and tomorrow is none too soon to start.

Did you notice that the application you signed for gasoline rationing contained the promise: "I will not drive in excess of 35 miles an hour"?

So many things have been happening that very few people may have noticed that this year's Thanksgiving will come on Thanksgiving day—instead of a week early.

War Doesn't Recess for Holidays

APPROACH of Thanksgiving again brings up the subject of working on a holiday, or rather, the subject is brought to attention by a plea from Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, that workers on war jobs sacrifice their customary holiday next Thursday, so that the nation's flow of war materials will not slacken.

Hitler and Hirohito will have scant regard for our American Thanksgiving, Mr. Nelson thinks, and our fighting forces will be as seriously engaged next Thursday as on other days.

"Our enemies are not going to stop their production on November 26," says Mr. Nelson, "and we dare not do so either. Men and women of management and labor alike can easily rearrange their personal schedules so that the traditional Thanksgiving dinner can be enjoyed after work has been finished. The deepest religious devotion we have will find its truest expression in an unflagging attention to duty by all of us."

And if, by that attention to duty—this Thanksgiving day, and EVERY day, the war can be more quickly won—then will come a Thanksgiving which will be unmarred by dark clouds of war.

Cold Homes for Fuel Oil Users

A MANSFIELD MAN who uses fuel oil for home heating reports having been informed that, under the rationing arrangement, he is to be allotted only 50 per cent of the quantity of oil he has heretofore used to keep his home at a comfortable temperature through the winter months.

It appears that apportionment is based on dimensions of rooms and placing 65 degrees Fahrenheit as maximum temperature—and that limitation is held justifiable by shortage of oil supply, due to large demands for war purposes.

This is the point on which a question is raised. IF there is an actual shortage of fuel oil for domestic and industrial purposes, or IF transportation facilities are inadequate to supply sufficient fuel oil for home heating—then this is a hardship that must be accepted as a part of the national war effort.

BUT is that really the condition, insofar as this area is concerned, or is this merely another example of bureaucratic bungling which has been much in evidence in the slip-shod handling of domestic problems by Washington theorists?

Whatever arbitrary rulings may be made by administration agencies, 65 degrees is NOT a "comfortable" home temperature, and people should not have this discomfort inflicted on them unless it is necessary. Hardships will be philosophically endured by Americans, if they are shown to be helpful in winning the war, but—as in the matter of fuel oil—they want to know that a shortage actually exists in this area before they will be content to endanger health by spending the winter in an uncomfortably cold home.

Women To Finish Hurricane Clean-Up

THE WORLD is opening many opportunities for women in these days, and women are certainly accepting them. They're engaging in so many new kinds of work, formerly considered impossible or improper for women, that it's hard to keep track of them.

In New Hampshire, for instance, they're felling trees and completing a clean-up of the area devastated by the big hurricane in 1938. Men started on that job, but apparently it's the women who will finish it.

And what do they do with the tress when they are down? Why, what would a husky woman do with a tree? Drag 'em to a sawmill and saw 'em up for lumber. Sure, they operate sawmills, just as they tackle any other work that comes their way. There are nine women definitely on the job at the Turkey Pond reservoir, where there is a little matter of 150,000,000 feet of timber to be sawed up, and more than 50 others have applied for such work.

Truth In Advertising Important

TOBACCO FIRMS against whom charges of untrue statements have been made by the Federal Trade commission reply that their advertising has been truthful in all respects. This should be cleared up as the public is entitled to know that it can depend upon the written or broadcast word.

The advertiser usually views his product with a certain glow, and the public is accustomed to allowing for that with a tolerant grain of salt, but anything definitely untrue should be eliminated in any kind of advertising. The best advertisers try to hold their copy close to fact, realizing that to be successful in the long run it has to be dependable.

Editor and Publisher magazine makes another point worth noting. It says:

"Too much cigaret advertising has been shrill, raucous and blatant, regardless of its truth or falsity. The latter qualities are difficult of establishment, but we believe that the cigaret advertisers would do themselves and all other advertisers a great favor by giving more attention to the good taste and common sense of their customers."

"Given that," it adds, "we can tolerate an occasional lyric stretching of the absolute truth." With which latter statement the general public will or will not agree, according to individual points of view.

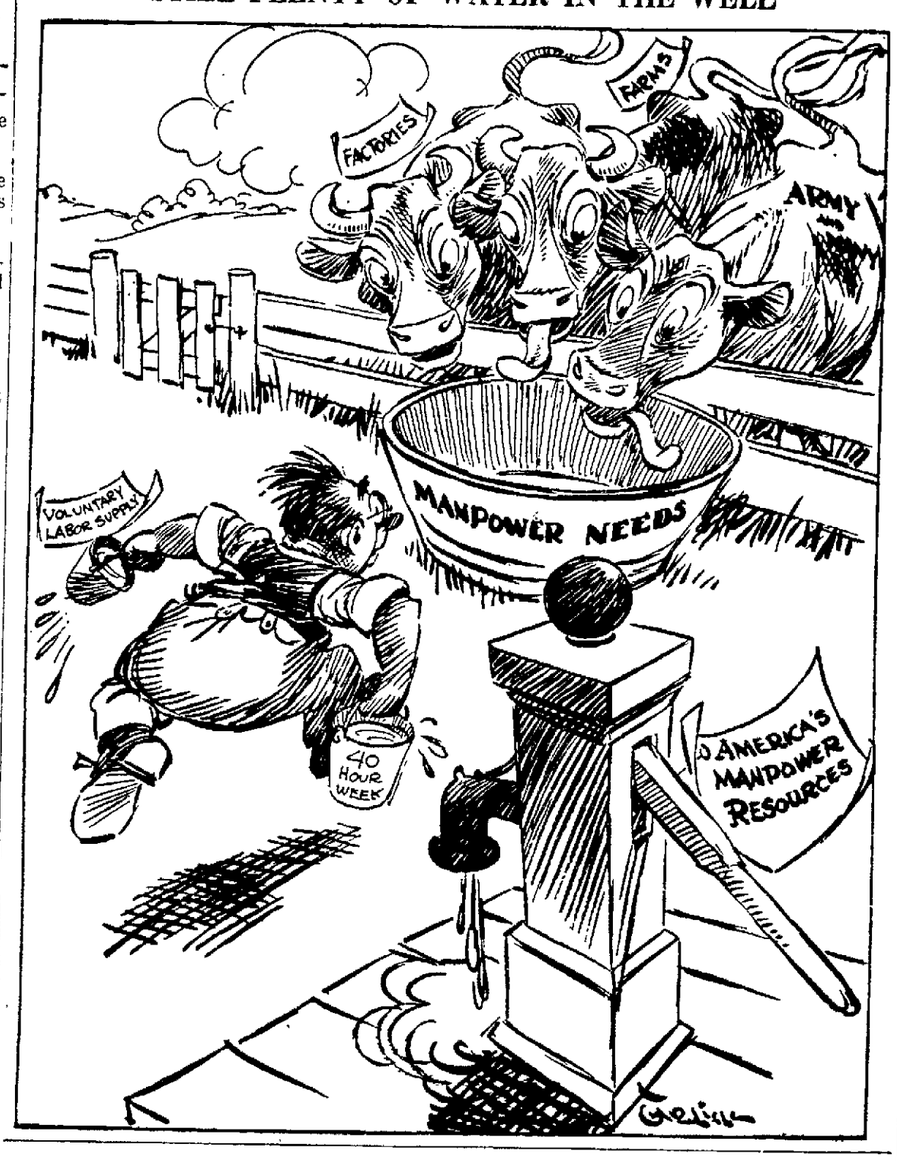
Fewer Buses for Big Cities

A NEW ORDER by Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, reduces drastically the bus service in six cities. By this reduction Eastman hopes to make bus-riders use street cars which in many cases run over the same streets, and to thus cut bus mileage 15 per cent, which would save 100,000,000 tire miles a year.

This order now affects only New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati and Richmond. No one can doubt that there will be others.

The Rome radio pleads with Italians not to "tremble in public"—but if all should conform there would be no "public."

STILL PLENTY OF WATER IN THE WELL



Party Labels Have Lost Meaning

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Once on a time, when a man said he was a Republican, you got a pretty fair idea of his political philosophy. Ditto, if he said he was a Democrat. You knew the grounds on which members of the two groups agreed with one another, respectively. You also recognized the points of party differences of opinion between 'em. For instance, a Democrat was pro-states' rights. A Republican was much more strongly federal. A Republican was a protectionist. A Democrat was for free trade or a tariff for revenue only.

That era's past.

There still are opposing schools of thought, but they no longer classify as Republican and Democratic.

Illustratively, there are anti-prohibitionists and a few surviving prohibitionists. Among the latter is Josh Lee, who was defeated for re-election to the senate from Oklahoma the other day, after trying to get a dry clause into our 'teen-age draft legislation. He's a Democrat. In Kansas, Senator Arthur Capper, who supported the dry proposition, was re-elected. He's a Republican. There likewise were wet Republicans as well as wet Democrats.

Similarly, the old-fashioned parties are all jumbled together on economic issues.

Plenty of Bolters.

Nominations on Republican and Democratic lines today are almost purely a matter of habit. Voting is, too, although bolters are far more numerous at the polls than they used to be.

President Roosevelt was quite right, then, in saying, as he did in a recent interview, that the latest election result indicated no particular Republicanly trend away from democracy. And there's no doubt that a bi-partisan alliance should be easy to fix up—provided it's considered as an old-time Republican-Democratic alliance.

Politicians still stew over those worn-out designations, but the average elector doesn't—not one-cent's worth.

As to the war, there's no room for controversy.

If Uncle Sam had militarily scored super-creditably before elections, there's no question that the administration would have had mightily close to a 100 per cent walkover on Nov. 3. The African campaign came just a week too late for many Democratic candidates!

The skimpiness of its retention of congressional control wasn't due to its Democratic-versus-its-Republican politics, but to the notion that the military campaign had been mismanaged. A lot of voters obviously haven't liked its New Deal economics, but they wouldn't have hollered about 'em at the present juncture if they'd felt that the White House was dealing with the war situation competently—as now seems pretty evident.

F. D. R. wanted Republican support, certainly—and he's had it.

But, as previously remarked, the political party distinction doesn't mean anything at present.

The distinction was that he was accused of having made a botch of our war program. It was a Democratic as well as a Republican judgment. F. D. R. says he's consulted Republicans as well as Democrats. Nobody disputes it. He, personally, is the person—not his party, who's held at fault for the prospect's gumminess.

New Deal Suffers.

In the background is the New Deal economically.

The war appears to have queered it.

It didn't have anything to do with wartime.

It was to have been an economic revolution.

Maybe F. D. R. would have been able to get away with it, if the war hadn't interjected itself.

Now—

When the war's over, if he's still on the job, will he be able to rejuvenate it?

Supposing he does, it'll take him a fourth and maybe a fifth term in the White House to see his original economic program through to a finish.

If the war's still raging in 1944, it'll be one story. If it's over, we may be able to draw some couclusions as to the economic kind of a world we're going to live in. It won't be settled as between Republicans and Democrats, though, for those designations have ceased to mean anything.

Listen World!

On Growing Old

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I'M GROWING OLD. Funny to write that now, remembering what I once thought that old age would mean.

I thought, once, that at 59 I'd want to rest. I thought I would have served my time at doing chores and earned the right to sit in sunny corners with my needlework or a book and watch the days go by. I thought I'd had enough of all the risk and hustle of this racing world and think, at last, I'd give my mind to quiet, cheerful things.

I'd been so curious when I was young—so hungry for adventure, so eager for all kinds of challenges, crusades, debates. But when I'd really grown old all this would pass. Or so I thought. At last I'd be willing to just wait and rest and let the foolish youngsters doubt and sweat and fight.

But most of all I wanted to be safe when I grew old. Safe from all worry, safe from change and stress. I wanted my own autumn time to come as it comes to the trees, in a long, lingering glow . . . not moved by life or afraid of death.

And now the time has come. I'm growing old. And nothing that I thought would be has happened yet to me or any of the real souls that I know. I do not want to rest. I would not loll within a rocking chair if it were made of gold. I'm just as eager as I was at 17 and just as keen to see what lies around the bend. I love a fight as well and laugh as deep.

And—strange—but I'm as scornful of risk, and hate the very thought of padded peace.

I WANT TO LIVE!

I WANT TO LIVE LIFE TO ITS LAST EXCITING DROP.

I WANT TO BE A PART OF ALL THE CHANGE, THE DANGER AND THE SPEED OF THIS NEW WORLD.

I WANT TO THINK NEW THOUGHTS . . . SEE NEW VISIONS . . . START REFORMS AND DREAM NEW DREAMS.

I no longer ask security.

I want to buck the smug old status quo.

I want to burn with anger at the old injustices . . .

To show up sugar-coated cowardice . . .

To tear the mask from sanctified hypocrisies, including all my own.

I want to live!

Give me the will, great God, to keep that wish alive!

Give me the courage never to retreat, but to fight on regardless of the price!

Keep me still warm and reckless, full of argument.

Keep me still glad when I meet challenges.

And angry when I'm offered compromise.

I want to live!

And when my days are done
Grant me the old privilege
That my fathers asked—
The right to die
With fighting boots still on!

Amen.

Timely Editorial

Soldiers' Letters.

"The fact of the matter is," reads a memorandum from the war department, "that striking up acquaintanceship with soldiers through false good-will organizations is one of the old techniques of espionage—hackneyed, but still in use. This will continue to be the case as long as genuine activities of this sort provide an innocent front for them."

This is in explanation of the department's present campaign to discourage soldiers from carrying on correspondence with casual acquaintances or with strangers. It is to explain to the many groups which may have organized to write letters to lonesome soldiers why their missives may not be getting replies.

"Masses of letters to soldiers from unknown correspondents," it significantly adds, "places a heavy and unnecessary burden on our protective agencies." — Columbus Dispatch.

Interpreting the War News

Study of Map of Africa Reveals How Hitler's Plan Was Blocked

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

CAIRO—Major offensives like the Allied drives to destroy the Axis in North Africa draw their striking power from many sources and present operations are getting great strength from a strategic development which has been achieved so quietly that many of its features still remain secret.

Since this is likely to play an increasingly important part in the Mediterranean campaign, it is necessary that we know something of it.

So if you'll dig out your maps of Africa I will show you what I mean.

Now, if you will flip a dime—or these being hard times, make it a nickel—toward the heart of the Dark Continent, and you are a fair shot, it will fall close to a big panel known as French Equatorial Africa.

That is the Fighting French territory, which has Chad on the north and reaches southward to include Ubangi-Shari, the French Cameroons, the Middle Congo and Gabon.

French General Mangin once remarked that he who holds Chad, holds Africa. I've just made my way across this zone by the sweat of my brow and have discovered what Mangin meant.

* * *

YOU WILL NOTE on your maps that if French Equatorial Africa had been controlled by Vichy, as was adjoining French West Africa, there would have been a huge barrier dividing Allied territory right through the whole area almost from the equator to the Mediterranean. That in itself would have created a grave handicap and prevented the strategic development which I shall describe.

Chad, which lies against Italian Libya, is the military key to this part of Africa.

Fighting French leaders foresaw Hitler's plan to use North Africa to gain domination of the Mediterranean and, right after the fall of France, moved to secure control of Chad.

This key position was under the powerful governorship of General Eboue, a huge Negro who was one of the most capable administrators in the empire. He elected to stand with the Fighting French and as a result all French Equatorial Africa joined the Allies.

This was done before any effort was made to raise a Fighting French army for this region, which lies at the rear of the Axis battlefront. Since then an army and military resources have been developed and we shall hear much more of them before this conflict is finished.

French Equatorial Africa now provides a span for an Allied bridge right across Africa.

The Allies have performed the historic feat of a complete line of air and water communication through the heart of this no-man's land.

That's not the whole story, however. There have been great industrial developments both in Fighting French territory and in other Allied countries. Ancient and broken-down caravan towns have been modernized and become throbbing centers of Allied efficiency.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It already is plain to be seen that the Republicans consider the late election as a mandate "to get the job done" as quickly and efficiently as possible; that they feel they have a ticket from the voters to crack down on many New Deal domestic policies; and that checking up on how the billions for war are spent will be one of their theme songs.

Senate Minority Leader McNary, Senator Vandenberg, House Minority Leader Martin, and several others, including a few anti-Administration Democrats, have said as much. This doesn't mean that there will be any hindrance to the war effort. The way Congress rushed back to clean up the 18-19 draft bill, without binding the War department in its handling of the 'teen agers, was proof.

BUT Washington political observers are not going to lose sight of three things: (1)—The Republican party is more or less "on the spot." Its "minority" is so slight in the house (only 15 seats) that any coalition it might form with anti-Administration Democrats (the GOP always courteously refers to them as "Jeffersonian Democrats") will put responsibility for house legislation squarely on Republican shoulders.

(2)—In formation of the 78th Congress, the Republicans probably will demand and may get a larger representation on the committees. Congress is really an organization of committees. Although floor fights frequently occur on legislation, most laws are "made" in committee.

Except for the powerful rules committee, which has 10 Democrats and five Republicans the committee distribution is generally 60 per cent for the majority and 40 per cent for the minority.

Yet distribution of the house will be so nearly 50-50 that Republicans might threaten an awful rumpus on the floor (a threat the Democrats will fear a great deal from January on) if their representation isn't increased.

ALSO, it may be physically impossible with 223 Democrats, 208 Republicans, two Progressives, one Farmer Laborite and one American Labor party member to maintain the 60-40 ratio.

And (3)—Although the still-substantial Democratic majority in the senate, which will be composed of 57 Democrats, 38 Republicans and one Progressive, will serve as a check-rein on a runaway coalition of anti-New Dealers in the house, the upper chamber also will be a little more cautious in going against the lower, and when the case arises a little stronger in backing it up.

At this date, it is too early to predict exactly what will happen in the reorganization of the new congress in January. But if you are interested in the workings of democracy in general and the future of congress in particular, keep an eye on whether the line in the House forms to the right, to the left or right down the middle.

Man About Manhattan

Seabrook 'Tells All'

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I have just read "No Hiding Place," the autobiography of William Seabrook, a book so frank and reflective of others that when I met Seabrook in the flesh I was bursting with the question: How do people react when they see themselves pictured unflatteringly in print?

He had the answer ready. "When I wrote 'The Magic Island' I really went to town on some of the officials and leading people of Haiti. The only people who got sore were those I didn't mention."

William Seabrook is a most unusual man. He chucked tailor-made careers on the Augusta Chronicle and the Atlanta Journal, quit an advertising business paying him thousands, enlisted with the French and was gassed at Verdun, tired of writing lurid but profitable pseudo-scientific articles, lived with the Bedouins and Druses, with voodoo worshippers in Haiti, with cannibals in West Africa; flew to Timbuctoo, married three times, and along about his 57th birthday next Feb. 22 hopes to become the father of a girl who will be named Sebastiana.

"IF IT'S a boy, as Constance hopes," he says, "we'll have to name him William Seabrook, I suppose, and that will be too bad because I'm the seventh William Seabrook and the world has had too many of us."

(His tall, red-headed wife is the former Constance Kuhr, herself a writer, and their home is a remodeled barn at Rhinebeck, N. Y.)

Apparently it was a relief for him to write his autobiography, to get down on paper all the cankerous and admittedly unreasonable hatred he bore for his late brother, Charlie, to whom the book is dedicated. He dared to write of Charlie, and his autocratic mother, and his preacher father, and his two former wives, and his friends, just as he once dared to have himself confined to an institution as an alcoholic and dared write a best-selling book ("Asylum") about that.

"The key figures in the book all saw advance proofs," he told me. "We only changed one little thing, about a moonshine still. If you write of people with malice, they have a right to get sore, but even though the description is sensational they seldom are hurt and seldom angered. I hope I have written without bitterness and malice."

I FOUND him tranquil and clear-eyed, boyishly eager for a word of praise about his writings, for always he has been tormented with the idea that he fell short in expressing himself, or that he could write better if he were somewhere else—just as I am dissatisfied with this jumbled impression of him. He is a tall man, somewhat heavy, with blue eyes and steel-gray hair and a close-cropped mustache. On his elbows are scars from burns received when he deliberately thrust them into scalding water so he could not bend them to drink. "I was sincere about that," he said. "It was big league stuff with me, and it worked. I've got drinking licked."

Those Repair Jobs

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE door knob is off again! Three times in the last year I have replaced the front door knob. The back one was gone long ago and superceded by a good strong wooden "button" and it is inconvenient to leave the night latch on. We did it a few times, when we all went away, and had to ease a youngster in at a narrow window to open the house for the rest of us.

We often wonder whether other people have trouble to just "keep even." Take health — there's always dental work that should be done, in a family the size of ours; there's frequently something that needs a doctor's care—or even a day in the hospital and a week's rest in bed, as happened to me recently.

Take repairs—the furnace bowl is cracked and must be mended; the grates are warping and should be replaced. The back porch roof has two long cracks where water pours through every time it rains. I have had the cement to mend it, but no daylight time to do the job. A windowpane is cracked in the back door. Its just a small bit of glass—but time and care and brads and putty and polish will be needed to do the job.

Take our kitchen stove — yes, take it; it's kerosene and about worn out. We have waited almost a year for the chance to use electric equipment and do not have it yet because of the war. Take our old washer. We had its face lifted again last week and it sudses right merrily again!

But where is progress, if it takes constant struggle to maintain even the simplest standard of living?

* * *

I WENT slowly up the attic stairs to the boys' bedroom. Here they sleep on mattresses and springs swung from the rafters. A roaring wind tore down the slope and rattled the metal roof. Cool air drifted in at the eaves and around the windows. The newly whitewashed beams overhead warned me to "duck my head and avoid many hard bumps." With a kindly thought for Benjamin Franklin's warning, I ducked, then gingerly stood erect beneath the comb roof and looked at my sleeping youngsters.

I saw at the edge of the floor a row of nails, newly pounded in—those new roofing nails I thought I had put away to fix the barn roof.

I covered the outflung arms of the nearest boy, and held the oil lamp high to make sure everything was right. Here was my home. Food, warmth and light — happy, healthy, busy children! I smiled picked up the screwdriver, and went to put on the door knob.

EXTENDS TIME FOR OPERATION OF FARM TRUCKS

OPA Gives Owners Until Dec. 1 to Obtain Certificate of War Necessity.

MILLERSVILLE — Bert Glauque, chairman of the Holmes county farm transportation committee, today called attention of local truck operators, including farmers, to extension of the deadline for the operation of trucks without certificates of war necessity.

The office of Defense Transportation announces that trucks may be operated without the war certificate to Dec. 1, rather than Nov 18, the previously announced deadline.

At the same time, he said, nation-wide gas rationing has been deferred until Dec. 1 by the Office of Price Administration

According to the latest OPA regulations, anyone who has applied for a certificate of war necessity and who has not received it by Dec 1 may be eligible to apply for issuance of temporary gas rations

Glauque advised farmers who have not yet applied for a certificate of war necessity to do so immediately. Assistance in filling out the application will be given at the county farm transportation committee's offices, which is located in the Holmes county agricultural conservation office on South Washington street in Millersburg.

EXTENDS TIME FOR OPERATION OF FARM TRUCKS

OPA Gives Owners Until Dec. 1 to Obtain Certificate of War Necessity.

MILLERSVILLE — Bert Glauque, chairman of the Holmes county farm transportation committee, today called attention of local truck operators, including farmers, to extension of the deadline for the operation of trucks without certificates of war necessity.

The office of Defense Transportation announces that trucks may be operated without the war certificate to Dec. 1, rather than Nov. 18, the previously announced deadline.

At the same time, he said, nation-wide gas rationing has been deferred until Dec. 1 by the Office of Price Administration.

According to the latest OPA regulations, anyone who has applied for a certificate of war necessity and who has not received it by Dec 1 may be eligible to apply for issuance of temporary gas rations

Glauque advised farmers who have not yet applied for a certificate of war necessity to do so immediately. Assistance in filling out the application will be given at the county farm transportation committee's offices, which is located in the Holmes county agricultural conservation office on South Washington street in Millersburg.

To Nov 15, this office had assisted more than 40 farmers and others in filling out the proper forms so as to receive their certificate of war necessity.

EACH DAY OF THE WEEK ..... TO .....

ADDRESS .....

On Page 1 of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad and which Small Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good. Just write three names on this blank each day.

$750.00 in awards go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey with a dozen or more cash awards each week.

Every member of any family may send in one answer each week and there are many awards each week, but only one award for a good answer will go to any one family in any one week.

I THINK THESE ADS WILL DO THE ADVERTISERS THE MOST GOOD.

	LARGE ADS	MEDIUM ADS	SMALL ADS
Sun.

You are NOT required to write a letter to receive an award.

The awards are decided on the selections above. We would really appreciate it, though, if you would write a note saying what you DO NOT LIKE and . . . also . . . WHY YOU LIKED some of the good ads.

We sincerely want your suggestions and ideas of how we may improve our advertising service for your benefit. Write your letter in your own way! It's the thoughts and suggestions that matter. You are not being "judged" by your letters. Actually they have nothing to do with the awards . . but . . . they will be helpful by giving additional information to our merchants.

Your criticisms and suggestions will be given to the merchants to help them to improve their advertisements BUT the merchants will NOT be given the names of those who write the letters. This is so you may say just what you really think without embarrassment.
